Literature Review (Submission, Feedback)

Thank you for your submission of your literature review, which builds on the draft and formative feedback provided over the module. As you know, the assignment is marked according to a few components, such as your overall understanding of the topic and a clear outline of your own research, the degree of coverage of the current debate, and the quality and the structure of the LR itself.

I think you overall did a good job with your LR. Below you can find some specific comments.

Knowledge and Understanding

The work shows a good general understanding of the state of the discipline and correct reasoning of what a LR is about.

Critical discussion & Contribution

Your review is coherent and informative. However, you covered the topic in a manner more descriptive than critically oriented.

It would also be good to see some areas that have not been explored yet or have not yet been researched to a sufficient extent. You mentioned them but did not expand on this specific area.

Structure and Presentation

The reference list is rich and demonstrates evidence of wider reading in the discipline. You have structured the material in a way that allows for a logical sequence of ideas.

Harvard System has been overall correctly used.

Your Turnitin score of 25 % and an analysis of the turnitin report suggest an original assignment. I think some more emphasis on the conclusions based on your previous analysis will make it even better.

Overall a good job. Please note the points mentioned above for a top-notch literature review for your project.
